

27 June 2019

I would like to inform the community that negotiations between the Administration and the Ateneo Employees Workers Union (AEWU) for the 2019-2024 CBA begins today, 27 June 2019. The University is going into this new round of negotiations with optimism that they will be able to find common ground with the AEWU.

The University has always kept the best interest of its employees at heart. The University hopes that both parties will negotiate with trust in each other knowing that the resulting agreement will be mutually beneficial.

I request your prayers for God to bless us all in our shared mission of education.
