The Ateneo de Manila University-School of Government, in partnership with SEAOIL Philippines, Inc. and the Kaya Natin! Movement for Good Governance and Ethical Leadership, will be launching Champions for Education—a leadership training program, which seeks to encourage local government officials to develop innovative programs to address basic education needs in their respective communities.

The participants will be composed of 30 local government officials from Luzon, 30 local government officials from Visayas, and 30 local government officials from Mindanao. Each island group will undergo a complete version of the program.

The program will be divided into three phases. The first phase focuses on leadership development and good governance, with the aim of helping the participants identify key problems in their communities. The second phase centers on public education reform, with the goal of leading participants toward the creation of plans of action for their localities. The third phase concentrates on social innovations, wherein the participants are expected to formulate project proposals to address their problems in public education. Respected changemakers in high levels of organizations and various sectors of society will be invited as speakers.

At the end of the program, the local officials will present their project proposals to the organizers and the best proposal/s will be funded by SEAOIL.

The first phase of the Luzon training is set for October 20 to 22, 2011 in the Meralco Management and Leadership Development Center in Antipolo City. For Visayas, the first training will be in Cebu Parklane Hotel on November 10-12, 2011. And for Mindanao, the first training is set for December 1-3, 2011 in Microtel Davao.
